You can't always SEE the hidden dangers after the storm...

Keep your family safe after severe weather has passed:

When venturing outside, stay away from downed power lines and be alert to the possibility that tree limbs or debris may hide an electrical hazard.

Assume that any dangling wires you encounter are energized and dangerous.

If you are driving and come upon a downed power line, stay in your vehicle, warn others to stay away and contact emergency personnel or your electric utility at:
